
Hulu Has Even More Live Sports with Launch of ESPN+ on Hulu

At Hulu, we love sports and we love sports fans. That's why sports has always been a key part of the Hulu experience. With nearly 60% of all Hulu subscribers identifying as sports fans, Hulu is committed to providing viewers with the choice and flexibility to watch all of the sports-themed content they want, when they want it.

Starting today, your favorite ESPN+ sports programming is available directly in the Hulu app. Through either Hulu's $5.99/month ESPN+ add-on or The Disney Bundle, viewers can access even more sports content without ever leaving the Hulu experience.

Eligible subscribers with access to Hulu's on-demand streaming library can subscribe to ESPN+ on Hulu to enjoy the extensive ESPN+ lineup of thousands of live sports events, including the most comprehensive lineup of soccer anywhere (such as the FA Cup, Bundesliga, Serie A, MLS and more), UFC, college sports — including basketball, football and others — from 20 conferences, golf coverage from The Players Championship, The Masters, The PGA Championship and much more. Subscribers can also watch acclaimed ESPN+ original shows and series like Peyton's Places and Stephen A's World, plus the entire award-winning 30 for 30 documentary series.

By this summer, Hulu subscribers will also be able to purchase and watch ESPN+ pay-per-view events — including exclusive UFC PPV events — at an additional cost.

Viewers who are already subscribed to The Disney Bundle will automatically see ESPN+ content integrated into their Hulu experience beginning today. Both The Disney Bundle and the ESPN+ on Hulu add-on can be purchased through subscribers' account settings.

Viewers can now easily switch from binge watching The Handmaid's Tale to checking out coverage of The PGA Championship, and swap back to Animaniacs before they catch up on the latest from last night's sports stories with SportsNation and then tune into the newest episode of The Bachelor — all in one place.
