

DULÉ HILL

Detective Brandon Drysdale on Hulu's "Good American Family"

Dulé Hill is an Emmy®-nominated and SAG Award-winning actor. Known for his work as Charlie Young on "The West Wing," Hill first came to prominence as The Kid opposite Savion Glover and Jeffrey Wright in "Bring in 'Da Noise, Bring in 'Da Funk'" directed by George C. Wolfe.

Next up, Hill can be seen as detective Brandon Drysdale in the Hulu limited series "Good American Family" alongside Ellen Pompeo and Mark Duplass.

This past year, Hill starred in the PBS docuseries "The Express Way with Dulé Hill," which he executive produced under his production company, Simon Says Hill. He can also recently be heard as Mr. Vaughn in Disney Jr.'s "Robogobo" and seen as Omar Campbell in season three of Peacock's drama series "Bel-Air." In 2021, Hill starred in the Netflix thriller "Hypnotic" alongside Kate Siegel and in HBO Max's heist film "Locked Down" opposite Chiwetel Ejiofor and Anne Hathaway. He also appeared in the second season of Showtime series "Black Monday."

Previously, Hill portrayed the role of Alex Williams in the USA Network drama "Suits" and appeared in the HBO series "Ballers" with Dwayne Johnson. He also starred in J.D. Dillard's drama "Sleight" which has received rave reviews since its 2016 Sundance Film Festival debut.

Hill is also known for his portrayal as Burton "Gus" Guster in the USA Network comedy "Psych," which ran for eight seasons. He also served as a producer on the series and received four NAACP Image Award nominations for Outstanding Actor in a Comedy Series. Hill revived his role with the original co-stars in the films "Psych: The Movie," "Psych 2: Lassie Come Home" and "Psych 3: This Is Gus."

Other stage credits include Colman Domingo and Patricia McGregor's "Lights Out: Nat 'King' Cole" at the People's Light and the Geffen Playhouse, the Tony®-nominated musical "After Midnight," the Alicia Keys-produced play "Stick Fly" on Broadway, as well as the national tour of "The Tap Dance Kid" alongside Harold Nicholas of the legendary Nicholas Brothers. Hill will reprise his role as Nat "King" Cole with Coleman Domingo and Patricia McGregor for the New York Theatre Workshop this spring.
